WHAT YOU'LL NEED

- Your old PawPoller, updated to the latest version
- Your new PawPoller (your hosted seat), signed in
- A moving phrase you'll remember for ten minutes: at least 12 characters

STEP BY STEP

1. Open Settings on your old PawPoller
   On the PawPoller you've been using, open Settings and go to Moving to another PawPoller.

2. Choose a moving phrase
   Type a phrase of at least 12 characters, twice. It locks your site logins inside the moving file. Nobody can recover it for you, so keep it handy until the move is done.

3. Make the moving file
   Leave Pause this copy afterwards ticked and press Make moving file. A bar shows progress; when it's done, the file downloads by itself. A big library can take a few minutes.

4. See the old copy pause
   A banner says This copy of PawPoller has moved and is paused. It stops checking your sites and posting, so the two copies don't trip over each other. Nothing is deleted.

5. Open Settings on your new PawPoller
   Sign in to your hosted seat, open Settings and go to Moving to another PawPoller.

6. Pick the file and type the phrase
   Under Bring in my old PawPoller, choose the moving file you just downloaded and type your moving phrase. Press Bring it in.

7. Wait for the upload
   A bar shows the upload. If your internet drops, pick the same file again and press Bring it in: it carries on from where it stopped.

8 Check and confirm

PawPoller tells you what's in the file. Press OK to bring it in. Your seat keeps its own password and email.

9 Sign in again

Your seat restarts by itself, which takes about a minute. Sign in with your seat's password. Your library, history and site logins are all there.

10 Delete the moving file

Once you've checked everything is there, delete the moving file from your Downloads folder.

WHERE IT GOES IN PAWPOLLER

Nothing to paste: everything happens in Settings → Moving to another PawPoller, on both PawPollers.

KEEPING IT ALIVE

Nothing to keep alive. A move is done once. If you change your mind, press Resume this copy on the old PawPoller's banner.

GOOD TO KNOW

- Your sign-in doesn't move: the new PawPoller keeps its own username, password, email and two-step code.
- A link between your desktop app and a server doesn't move either. Connect them again afterwards if you use one.
- If the new PawPoller already had work in it, its records are replaced by the moving file's. A safety copy is kept first, and artwork is never deleted.
- The moving file holds your library unencrypted (your logins are locked). Keep it private and delete it after the move.
